Executive Summary

Conclusion:	Positive
Confidence Score:	100%
Summary:	The reported injury appears to fall squarely under Part One Workers' Compensation Insurance. The incident occurred at the employer's NH facility during the policy period (2022-03-20 to 2024-03-20), was caused by overexertion while lifting/twisting a heavy load, resulted in lumbar strain and right shoulder sprain, and led to lost time. The employee sought treatment immediately, began disability on 2023-11-15, and returned to restricted light-duty work on 2023-11-20. The employer promptly notified the insurer, and no policy exclusions are indicated in the provided details. Therefore, the claim is plausibly covered. Possible denial reasons include endorsements or policy exclusions not disclosed (e.g., limits or exclusions on certain operations or states), a determination that the injury does not meet the accidental criteria, or a finding of non-work-related activity; or coverage gaps if the injury is deemed outside the course of employment or if the claim was misclassified.
